

The "Mock Electioneering" was held on September 5, 2022 from 12:00-2:00 PM at Mata Sahib Kaur Auditorium, Mata Sundri College for Women, University of Delhi by the Department of Political Science, Polimates. The retired faculty of the department, Dr. Harjinder Chawla and Dr. Jasjit Kaur were invited as the Chief Guests to the event. The event highlighted the cons of the party politics in India with special emphasis on the unfulfilled promises by the politicians and their parties.

The event observed six teams with two candidates in each team. In the first round the teams were asked to put forward the symbol, slogan and manifesto of their respective parties within the duration of 5-7 minutes. Parties introduced themselves in a comical demeanour which was followed by a debate in the second round where the parties argued over the representation of women in the Indian parliament. Afterwards, the students celebrated teacher's day as a gesture of gratitude to their teachers. The Team Polimates put in their heart and soul to keep the event lively and engaging for all.

Thereafter, the chief guests, Dr. Jasjit Kaur and Dr. Harjinder Chawla illuminated the audience with their words and announced the results of the event. The team led by Tripti Sharma and Tannushree Sharma, Toppibaaz Party made it through the first position, followed by the BAAP: Bas Apki Apni Party and Hera-Pheri Party as the second and third runner up respectively.

It was followed by the Badge Distribution Ceremony of the Team Polimates by the honourable chief guests and the respected teachers of the department. The event concluded with an address by the teacher in-charge, Ms. Poonam Sharma and the president of the team, Pragya Sharma. The event was a success, graced by the chief guests, faculty members and the students.
